Everlasting Hope

PASTOR STEVE TREASH

Romans 8:31-34

“If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare His own Son, but gave Him up for us all—how will He not also, along with Him, graciously give us all things?”

Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. Who then is the one who condemns? No one! Christ Jesus who died—more than that, who was raised to life—is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us.

Romans 8:35-39

Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or sword?

As it is written, 'For your sake we face death all the day long, we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered.'

No! In all these things we are more than CONQUERORS through Him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

The background is a hand-drawn sketch on a light-colored, textured surface. At the top center, there is a simple black cross. Below the cross, the words "Everlasting" and "Woe" are written in a thick, red, brush-stroke style. The word "Everlasting" is in a slightly more formal, cursive-like script, while "Woe" is more expressive and slanted. The background is filled with various blue and black ink scribbles, including a large, sweeping arc that curves from the left side towards the bottom right, and several smaller, more chaotic marks. The overall composition is artistic and hand-drawn.
